Grow Group Questions for April 28th

1. What from the sermon, "The Dark Room," impacted you most?
2. In the sermon I said that God's work in you takes time and that, as with a traditional photograph, He has to take you to "the dark room" to develop the negative into a lasting image.
 - How has he done that in your own life?
 - What do you think He is trying to develop in particular in you? In one another?
3. I said that the only thing that matters is that God chose you. You didn't choose Him. He chose you first. Everything flows from that.
 - Do you believe that?... How?
 - How does that knowledge affect your relationship to Him?

...Well folks, that is where I would like the conversation to go and I hope that these questions take you into a meaningful conversation. There are of course other lines of thought that you might want to explore further. For example:

- I said that "your significance has nothing to do with the world's approval." But, wow that is easier said than done! How do you struggle with that? How do you struggle with the pressure to be a people pleaser? And how has that affected you?
- I said that you can't love properly until you have experienced the love of God. Where have you experienced that? How have you shared that love?
